

Folk Fest Returns to HWS

Folk Fest Brings Campus Out to Celebrate

Folk Fest 2001 met a small but very enthusiastic crowd last weekend on the quad. The weekend featured fun, food, good music, and good times.

Left, above: A Folk Fest act rocks the Coxe Hall stage. Local acts, like Geneva High's own Gym Class Heroes and Ithaca's Sim Redmond Band, took the stage, as well as Boston-based acts like Generic, Babaloo, and Kris Delmhorst.

Left, below: Senior Shay Fitzpatrick and friends take a breather on the Quad. Students like Fitzpatrick camped out on and off throughout Saturday and Sundays acts.

Center: A William Smith student peruses the craft tables, intent on making a purchase. Vendors sold visors, jewelry, candles, incense, sweaters and other clothing items, and lots more. Most items were hand-made, as well.

Right, above: William Smith alumnae Amy Alvarez makes some falafels between jamming out to some groovy Folk Fest tunes. HWS alums came back in droves for the infamous Folk Fest weekend, but some found it hard to adjust to the fall fest instead of spring.

all photos by Dave Gordon, photo editor